HANGING GARDEN

We love the idea of using macramé to create a striking display of plants. This brightly coloured arrangement (pictured above), spotted in a student hotel in Amsterdam, is a clever way to make use of a classic textilemaking technique in a contemporary context. If you're not brave enough to get knotting yourself, we recommend these mini hanging planters by Hruskaa (pictured above right). From £15 each (etsy.com).

BALANCING ACT

These beautiful oversize indoor/outdoor 'Pebble' stools from Keir Townsend combine a smooth natural-marble or travertine base with a tactile wooden seat. While they'll set you back a bit, we think their sublime oval and round shapes, perfect for stacking, make them well worth saving up for. From £1,600 each (keirtownsend.com).

SPRING GREENS

Refresh your interior with a mix of leafy shades, from bold chartreuse and lime to soft mint and pale sage
